

ABET LAMINATI introduces a Commercial Wall System that blends beauty, durability, affordability, ease of installation and now a Patented fastening system. Three U.S. patents have been granted for the aluminum profiles supporting the panels, including the corner, end cap and connector profiles. In addition to innovation, the wall system offers the full range of ABET's laminates, including solid colors and textures, woodgrains, silk-screened designs and leather with semi-custom panel dimensions, and a variety of aluminum profiles for flexibility in function and design. Various accessories easily hook into the grooves.

The Commercial Wall System uses a tongue-and-groove fastening system, in which an aluminum profile fastens to a wall and functions as the tongue, since the panel has a groove for the insertion of the profiles. The profiles are offered with various visual and functional options for versatility. The installation method is considered a "progressive installation," which means the builder begins from a single point and adds to the wall progressively. The major benefit of the installation is its simplicity.

A standard ABET LAMINATI Commercial Wall System will start in the price range of $6.00 to $8.00 per square foot range including most standard HPL offerings and aluminum profiles necessary to secure it to the wall. Premium laminates, leather, additional hardware, accessories or custom panel sizes of laminate will add to this cost. For further information on the Commercial Wall System call 1-800-228-2238.
